Allegiant Air (AAY) has chosen the Orlando Sanford as its base of operations for the next 10 years as it expands to Orlando. Headquartered in Las Vegas, Nevada, Allegiant is a full Part 121 Scheduled Air Carrier operating all-jet, low-fare, low cost flights since 1997 primarily between Las Vegas and cities west of the Mississippi. The carrier will initially base two 130-seat MD-87 aircraft at Orlando Sanford and expects to bring over 100,000 customers annually to Central Florida through Orlando Sanford International Airport. By the end of 2006, Allegiant plans to have 8 Orlando-dedicated aircraft and more than 150 Orlando-based employees. Allegiant is making significant investments in infrastructure and resources, and in the community, to ensure this positive growth.
